Program Co-Chairs

David Jarecke focuses on environmental law, agribusiness, natural resources law, water law, public power, land use and zoning. He has authored one of the initial well moratoriums in the State of Nebraska.

LeRoy W. Sievers has been practicing law for nearly 30 years. In 1984, he joined the Nebraska Attorney General's Office, where he represented the State in water resource litigation. He moved to the Nebraska Department of Water Resources, where he worked on the Nebraska v. Wyoming litigation in the U.S. Supreme Court. He was the Lincoln Bar Association's President in 2000-2001.

Donald G. Blankenau practices in the areas of water, natural resources and environmental law. He serves as a Special Assistant Attorney General to the State of Nebraska regarding the Missouri River litigation and before the U.S. Supreme Court in Kansas v. Nebraska.

Kara Brighton concentrates her practice on water and natural resources issues and co-founded her firm in order to bring services to ranchers and other Wyoming water users. She has worked for the State of Wyoming on issues related to Nebraska v. Wyoming.

Michael Clements has been instrumental in obtaining nearly $3 million in federal grant money for his district's Rural Water Project. He has also been involved in the Kansas v. Nebraska settlement implementation process. He was a Project Manager for AT&T and Lucent Technologies for 27 years.

Thomas Davidson has experience litigating state and federal environmental law issues affecting Wyoming and the Rocky Mountain states. He has served as lead counsel in Nebraska v. Wyoming and the Bighorn River Adjudication. He served as Deputy Attorney General in the Division of Water and Natural Resources in the State of Wyoming.

Jasper Fanning is the manager of the Upper Republican Natural Resources District after having served as Temporary Interim Manager. He has a PhD in economics from Kansas State University.

James Goeke works with local agencies and individuals to identify, monitor and manage groundwater problems, assist in the development of groundwater supplies and conduct baseline water quality studies with the Twin Platte Natural Resources District. He has been with the Conservation and Survey Division since 1976.

Harriet M. Hageman focuses on water and natural resources issues. She has experience working for the State of Wyoming on endangered species issues, National Forest management matters and water resources management. She is a member of the Board of Directors for the Wyoming Water Association.

Michael Klein has been engaged in the general practice of law in Holdrege with his firm since 1977. His practice includes the representation of clients concerning water and water rights.

James R. Montgomery emphasizes municipal water supply planning and implementation, interstate water apportionment and federal reserved water rights. He served the State of Wyoming for more than 20 years as Special Assistant Attorney General for interstate water matters.

Michael S. Mostek has been practicing law in Nebraska since 1985. He specializes in environmental and natural resources law. He has served as Chair of the Nebraska Bar Association's Natural Resources and Environmental Law Section.

Kirk Nelson has been with his organization since 1974. In his current position, he is the direct supervisor of several division managers and coordinates activities with the Director and the Board of Commissioners. He has served as Chair of the Rainwater Basin Joint Venture for the North American Waterfowl Management Plan.

Daniel Smith was hired as Assistant Manager for the Middle Republican NRD in March 1979 and became the Manager in August 1999. He previously served in the United States Air Force as a copilot on B-52s for five years.

Steve Smith is a registered lobbyist. He directs a nonprofit organization dedicated to water policy research and education. His organization is a long-time advocate of augmentation of water supplies.

Robert V. Trout practices water rights, environmental, municipal and construction law, government contracts, eminent domain and litigation. He co-authored Acquiring, Using and Protecting Water in Colorado (2004).
